

Issyk-Kul

Before first light

Kyrgyzstan · Issyk-Kul

Listen to a vast lake before its shore wakes up.

We plan to reach the water before dawn and stay into the morning light. We hope to preserve time passing: water touching stones, moving wind and the first sounds along the shore.

What we hope to hear

- Water up close: a wave, pebbles and the pause between them.
- Wind and the open space of the lake.
- The first voices along the shore, if they come within earshot.

The proposed journey

Find a place

Explore accessible shore and choose a position without disturbing people or wildlife.

Wait for morning

Leave room for the time before first light, the transition and the first minutes of day.

Bring back a story

We plan to accompany the recording with field notes and photographs.

Be part of the next morning

Support one expedition and help preserve the voice of a place. We will agree the format of your involvement with your team.

Expedition partner

RUB 30,000

Help make one journey possible and become part of its story.

- A logo and link on the selected expedition page.
- An acknowledgement in the final account of the journey.
- Agreed images and short texts to share through your channels.

Publication formats and material use are agreed before the start.

Lead partner

from RUB 150,000

Support the journey more broadly and tell a shared story about preserving the voices of places.

- Everything in the expedition partner package.
- Prominent placement on the trip page and in the final story.
- A dedicated piece about your support and jointly selected publications.

The final price depends on the agreed scope.

Where we begin

1. Email support@orna.land with the journey and form of involvement that interest you.
2. We will discuss your goals, the materials, timing and how to tell the story of your support.
3. We will record the agreed terms in a contract and begin the preparations.

Participation terms

Placements, timing, usage rights and advertising disclosures are agreed before work begins. Exclusivity and commercial licences are not included automatically. Final terms are recorded in the agreement.

Discuss a partnership: support@orna.land

https://orna.land/expeditions/issyk-kul